PARENT SECTION

If we accept your child to The LearningWorks, we will have significant social and pedagogical goals for her/him. We will have goals for other students, which will involve your child. These (highly personal) questions are optional. They are not a condition of acceptance to TLW. But the better a map we have, the more we can accomplish. If you need more space please add a blank page.

Is your child a 'morning person,' or a night-owl?

One or two things about which my child really loves to ask questions is/are . . .

Think about your child in her or his moments of peak creativity. Please share one (or more) with us.

We hope this is irrelevant to you, but we know most parents will probably have something to say. We want to know about any experience your child has had with bullying. Have they seen bullying at their school/youth group? Were authorities present? How did they respond (or, didn't they)?

Has your child helped a friend who was bullied? Was your child her/himself, a bullying victim? If so, where is she/he now, with regard to her/his own response?

One or two great ways to cheer my child up, when they think everything has gone wrong:

One thing you should know about my child's social competence is: (This can be, 'something we want our child to learn'.)

What do you want to tell us about your child over the past year? Here are some topics for guidance, but we invite you to simply tell us what you think we need to know, instead.

- A serious difficulty my/our child experienced. Our best solution(s) for this, and why we think it worked.
- An aspect of growth we noticed in our child, or something we were pleased she/he retained.
- A way in which our child really shined, and/or something we learned about our child.
- In view of my child's experiences, social, academic, et cetera, over the past year, what my child really needs now is:

STUDENT SECTION

Parents may help type or write answers, or explain some of the questions, but these questions are for the student.

What is the coolest thing you've built with LEGO? And, the coolest thing you've built, in general?

Please circle or select any with which you have experience, OUTSIDE of school. Tell us about one.

Did you know that your section of the application was made for you, by other kids like you?
